NEW BOOK IN THE COUNTY LIBRARY

The Sound of Thunder.
By Taylor Caldwell.

In The Sound of Thunder, the author spans the years 1904-37 to tell the history of an American family which settled its roots in a town in upper New York State and brought forth its good and bad fruit. The years were enough for a small food store to become a big food-store chain, and for the strengths of Maria Enger and the weaknesses of Heinrich Enger to shape the lives of their five children. It is around this situation that Taylor Caldwell builds the dramatic novel of envy and mounting tension between brothers, of an unvoiced struggle between husband and wife, of forlorn searching for self-esteem, and of hopeless and unwarded love.
